

Location Intelligence for Business

We live in a connected economy. The ability to see where a client is, gives you the ability to make better decisions and strategic choices.

- Insurance
- Marketing
- Shipping
- Analytics
- Loans
- Banking
- Route planning

Location Intelligence for Government

Governments work starts with a location. Knowing where someone is allows you to address issues and plan for the future.

- Utilities
- Taxes
- Emergency Services
- City Building
- Census
- Disaster Relief

Location Intelligence for NGOs

NGO's are focused on helping others. The ability to track their work and see real progress is vital to what they do.

- Environmental
- Disease eradication
- Women's health.
- Progress tracking.

Database

Being able to store your location data in a secure location gives you the ability to store your customized location data and share it with colleagues or customers.

Not just buildings

With AimLocate you can address and track almost anything and store any information in one of the data points.

